

The Scramble for Sight & Junior Golf Clinic for visually impaired youth Presented by Holiday Retirement, Inc. and Ferguson Wellman Capital Management

The 6th Annual Scramble for Sight and Junior Golf Clinic will be held Monday, September 22nd, 2008 at the Reserve Golf and Country Club, South Course, in Aloha. The Reserve is one of Oregon's premier courses, having played host to the Jeld-Wen Tradition, the Champions Tour final Major of the year.

Designed by John Fought, a Portland native and former PGA Tour pro whose design credits include four Top 100 courses, The South Course is a traditional American layout with mature stands of Oregon trees, naturally rolling terrain and 114 gleaming white sand bunkers waiting to swallow errant shots. Strategy and deception combine with pure aesthetic pleasure on this par 72 track, measuring from 5,189 to 7,196 yards. The South Course offers a test worthy of the most accomplished golfer - both The Fred Meyer Challenge and the JELD-WEN Tradition have been played on this course.

Course highlights include the 605-yard, par 5 6th hole and the 460-yard, par 4 17th. The 6th requires players to negotiate no fewer than 16 strategically placed fairway and greenside bunkers. The 17th stands out not only for its beauty, but also for the water feature guarding the hole's left side and the distinctive double green, shared with the 11th and punctuated by a pot bunker separating the two putting surfaces.

The Junior Golf Clinic:

A special part of this annual event is the junior golf clinic. This clinic, one of the largest in the country, brings more than 50 students from the Oregon and Washington Schools for the blind as well as mainstream schools together with local professionals. Students spend the morning working with local PGA professionals and teachers on chipping, driving and putting skills introducing students to the joys—and the challenges—of the game of golf.

Making a difference in the health of Oregonians:

Proceeds from the Scramble for Sight support the efforts of the Oregon Lions Sight & Hearing Foundation to improve the quality of life for all Oregonians in need of sight and hearing assistance. From preventative health screenings to sight or hearing saving surgeries OLSHF served 113,119 youth and adults this year.
